DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 5-7, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Luc (US 4,144,110) or Luc (GB 1 385 473).

US '110 and GB '473 teach the method of bonding two metal members one over the other, wherein the planar tip of the rotor is pressed against the first metal member (figures for both references). The rotor is stirred in such a direction that the rotor rotates in the thickness direction of the members, while keeping the metal in a non molten state, and wherein the tip of the rotor has a concave portion (col. 13, lines 47-55 of US '110, page 5, lines 65-70 and figure 2 of GB '473).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 4 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over GB '473 or US '110 as applied to claim 1 above in paragraph 3, and further in view of EP 0 893 189 .

GB '473 and US '110 disclose the claimed invention above, but fail to mention using two rotors and removing burrs on the first metal surface.

However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to remove burrs due to the rotating and pressing motion of the rotor, since the rotation of the rotor would cause airflow at the surroundings of the working area, causing debris to be blown away.

In addition, EP '189 discloses using two rotors to friction stir both members for the purpose of expediting the process.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to use both rotors at the same time as taught by EP '189, in US '110 or GB '473 in order to expedite production.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 5/19/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that both Luc references fail to disclose stirring in a direction of a thickness of the metal members in the concave portion. However, examiner respectfully disagrees. Both references clearly show the claimed invention (figures). Applicant's argument regarding to "concave portion is against the surface of the lapped portion" is not in commensurate with the scope of the claims, since such limitation is not claimed. Therefore, claims 1-9 remain rejected.
